

News from around town with

Jenny Lightfoot and Pam Robertson

OUR TOWN

Wednesday, February 10, 2010 | THE MORNING BULLETIN

Crafty ladies give handiwork to five Central Qld charities

CHERITH WEIS
Gracemere
cherrypink.15@bigpond.com

THE big-hearted, crafty ladies of the Capricorn Helping Hands Group made good their pledge to donate to five Central Queensland charities last Wednesday at their first get-together for the year.

Five tables of their handcrafted goods were donated to Angel Flight, the Leukemia Foundation, the Capricorn Helicopter Rescue Service, the Royal Flying Doctor Service Auxiliary and the Rockhampton Branch of the Queensland Cancer Council.

RARE GIFTS: Showing the five tables of beautifully handcrafted work from Central Queensland Helping Hands group, which were given to five charities last Wednesday (from left), are: Patricia Davis (CQHH) from Mount Morgan; Jan Barrett of Bouldercombe representing the Capricorn Helicopter Rescue Service (a recipient); Carol Stock (CQHH) of Mount Morgan; Sylvia Clark and Pam Aitcheson (CQHH) both of Mount Morgan; Marion Fullerton of Rockhampton representing the Royal Flying Doctor Service Auxiliary (a recipient); Hazels Roots of Rockhampton Branch of the Queensland Cancer Council; Chissy Rees (CQHH) of Mount Morgan and Margaret Fontaine (CQHH) and of Bouldercombe. Absent (mainly due to weather conditions) were Angel Flight and the Leukemia Foundation.

The group has been well supported since its formation in October and it is thankful for the continuing help it is receiving from local residents and businesses. CQHH is hoping that the help will continue through 2010. For more information about the group and its crafty activities phone Carol on 4938 1459 or Hazel on 4938 2431.